

Sabina Legănar

As a Romanian, my journey has been shaped by dedication and perseverance. My ethos revolves around continuous growth; I am driven by the desire to progress, never settling for the status quo.

This philosophy of evolution is mirrored in my artistic practice, where I embrace a variety of mediums, including drawing, painting, photography, digital art, sculpture, and performance, to express the dynamic nature of my creative exploration.

Hard work, while a cornerstone of my development, also propels me toward discovering new ways of expression. The relentless pursuit often leads me into uncharted territories of creativity, where the blend of exhaustion and determination opens up novel avenues for artistic exploration. This process underscores the belief that pushing boundaries, even in the face of fatigue, can lead to breakthroughs and enrich my work with depth and diversity.

Sabina Elena Leganaru (b. 1982) is an artist born in Horezu, she has been living and creating in Bucharest for 20 years.

Sabina graduated from the Faculty of Mathematics at the University of Bucharest, the National University of Arts, where she completed both her bachelor's and master's degrees in the painting department. She studied and created for 2 years in Florence and Rome. She is a member of the Union of Visual Artists, Bucharest Branch – Painting Section.

Sabina has had exhibitions of drawing, painting, photography, and installation in Bucharest, Paris, Rome, Florence, London, Montreux, Nice, Frankfurt, and New York.

Her participation in the Salon de la Peinture in Paris and the Florence Art Biennale represents significant moments in her artistic career.
